

Berenberg European Micro Cap M

Actively managed equity fund

Investment Strategy

The investment objective of the Fund is long-term capital growth that outperforms the benchmark MSCI Europe Micro Cap Index over a medium to long-term period. The main driver for this is the above-average earnings growth of the selected companies. The strategy is based on a disciplined bottom-up stock selection of attractive smaller companies (market capitalisation up to 1bn EUR) based in Europe. Investments are made in established niche companies that achieve sustainable and above-average growth over long periods with high profitability. The decisive criteria are in particular end markets with structural growth, high entry barriers and excellent management teams.

- Growth-oriented fund
- Diversified portfolio of 90-120 stocks
- Use of information inefficiencies in the case of titles that receive little attention
- Long-term investment horizon and low portfolio turnover
- Active approach, i.e. index weights have no influence on individual stock selection

Fund management comment

After the temporary correction in April, the equity markets picked up speed again. The Berenberg European Micro Cap outperformed the benchmark in May. Medcap, a Sweden-based company that acquires and develops profitable and market-leading niche companies in the life science industry, continued its solid performance in May, driven by strong first quarter results. Thanks to better-than-expected first quarter results, shares in Genovis, the Swedish specialist for enzyme-based analytical solutions, rallied. In contrast, the shares of Inspiration Healthcare, the British specialist for medical devices for newborns, slumped in May due to a delay in the export of materials. Shares in Mentice, the Swedish provider of software and hardware simulation solutions for endovascular therapies, fell following the publication of weak results for the first quarter. In May, we exited our position in Swedencare, a Swedish animal health specialist, as its market capitalisation now exceeds the limit for the European Micro Cap Fund.

BVI method: The charts and tables regarding performance shown here are based on own calculations according to the method developed by the German Investment Funds Association (BVI). They illustrate past performance. Future performance can deviate both positively and negatively from these calculations. Gross performance (BVI method) takes into account all charges at fund level (e.g. management fee), net performance plus the issue surcharge. As no issue surcharge is incurred for this share class the gross performance corresponds to the net performance. Additional charges can arise for individual investors (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Also, fees may be charged for the administration of the safe custody account, which will lower the performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
