

Berenberg Credit Opportunities M D

Actively managed fixed income fund

Investment Strategy

Berenberg Credit Opportunities is a benchmark-independent, flexible fixed income fund with an investment focus on financial bonds and a regional focus on Europe. The aim of the investment strategy is to generate both an attractive return and steady coupon income by investing across the entire capital structure. In the medium term, the aim is to develop a total return character. In order to identify attractive opportunities and market inefficiencies, the fund management utilises a broad and flexible toolbox from the entire capital structure. The focus is on fundamental analysis and single bond picking. Interest rate, credit and currency risks can be actively managed through the use of derivatives.

Fund management comment

While growth concerns dominate in Europe, there were positive economic surprises again in the US. The US labour market in particular proved robust in October. The ECB lowered interest rates in the eurozone by 25 bp at its October meeting and the market continues to expect at least one further rate hike in December. Expectations for the US Federal Reserve have been reduced from two rate hikes to one by the end of the year. 10-year US yields rose by 50 basis points in October after falling for five consecutive months. Risk premiums for corporate bonds in the IG segment widened slightly, while spreads in the HY segment narrowed further. The primary market remains robust and recorded the highest volume of new issues for several years in October. The inflow of funds remains positive, with the HY segment in particular recording high inflows.

The statements made herein have not been audited by any external party, particularly not by an independent auditing firm. Any future returns on fund investments may be subject to taxation, which depends on the personal situation of the investor and may change in the future. Returns on investments in foreign currencies may increase or decrease due to currency fluctuations. The purchase, holding, conversion or sale of a financial instrument, as well as the use or termination of an investment service, may give rise to costs that affect the expected income. In the case of investment funds, you should always make an investment decision on the basis of the sales documents (key investor document, presentation of past performance, sales prospectus, current annual, if applicable, semi-annual report), which contain detailed information on the opportunities and risks of the relevant fund. In the case of securities for which a securities prospectus is available, investment decisions should always be made on the basis of the securities prospectus, which contains detailed information on the opportunities and risks of this financial instrument, otherwise at least on the basis of the product information document. An investment decision should be based on all characteristics of the fund and not just on the sustainability-related aspects. All the aforementioned documents can be obtained from Joh. BVI method: The charts and tables regarding performance shown here are based on own calculations according to the method developed by the German Investment Funds Association (BVI). They illustrate past performance. Future performance can deviate both positively and negatively from these calculations. Gross performance (BVI method) takes into account all charges at fund level (e.g. management fee), net performance plus the issue surcharge. As no issue surcharge is incurred for this share class the gross performance corresponds to the net performance. Additional charges can arise for individual investors (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Also, fees may be charged for the administration of the safe custody account, which will lower the performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
