

Berenberg Variato I A

Actively managed multi asset fund

Investment Strategy

Berenberg Variato features an active investment approach without a benchmark, bundling Berenberg's best ideas. Strategic long-term positions in attractive capital markets segments are completed with thematic investments (e.g. megatrends) and opportunistic tactical positions. Investment vehicles are individual securities, mutual funds, ETFs and derivatives. Risk sensitivities are managed via overlay ex post. The target is to achieve attractive returns at the expense of a temporary higher volatility.

Fund management comment

The major central banks on both sides of the Atlantic continued their rate-cutting cycle in December as expected. However, the Fed surprised with its hawkish outlook for 2025, which, together with stubborn inflation and continued robust labour market and economic data in the US, led to a sharp rise in US yields. This and rebalancing flows weighed on the global equity markets and the US equity markets in particular. The credit spreads of USD issuers widened, while EUR credit spreads narrowed further. The US dollar continued its upward trend in December, while the precious metal gold fell slightly month-on-month. Although many asset classes fell in December, the Berenberg Variato ended the month virtually unchanged. The fund benefited from its high US dollar allocation and options hedging, including on the S&P 500 and US homebuilders. By contrast, European equities made a negative contribution to performance. Above all pharmaceutical stocks such as Astrazeneca and Novo-Nordisk. The Berenberg Variato closed 2024 with a double-digit return, well above its minimum target return of 4%.

BVI method: The charts and tables regarding performance shown here are based on own calculations according to the method developed by the German Investment Funds Association (BVI). They illustrate past performance. Future performance can deviate both positively and negatively from these calculations. Gross performance (BVI method) takes into account all charges at fund level (e.g. management fee), net performance plus the issue surcharge. As no issue surcharge is incurred for this share class the gross performance corresponds to the net performance. Additional charges can arise for individual investors (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Also, fees may be charged for the administration of the safe custody account, which will lower the performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
